

The Roaring Eighties and Other Good Times

Written by one of Canada's leading cultural commentators, this collection explores a wonderful gamut of topics, including the arts, sports, politics, and pop culture of the 1980s. Both hilarious and brilliant, the essays range from exposes on cocaine dealers and the murder of heiress Nancy Eaton, to articles on the politics of Jean Chretien, the music of Miles Davis, and the literature of Joyce Carol Oates, Saul Bellow, and Morley Callaghan.
