

Mrs. Ogg Played the Harp: Memories of Church and Love in the High Desert

Mrs. Ogg Played the Harp, winner of the Geat Southwest Book Festival Grand Prize, tells the touching and funny story of an untested woman minister who ventures to the high country of Arizona where she accepts a pulpit in a small church in a Country Club. She enjoys her ministry in the Wild West, except for her quarrels with Christian doctrine and her husbands love affair. Jordan tells a compelling story of confronting a husbands betrayal, coping with troublesome Christian beliefs, and finding God among critics, conservatives, and a hypnotic landscape.
